

	WARTS: HOMEOPATHIC APPROACH DR. RONAK SHAH'S DIVINE HOMEOPATHY Restoring Vitality SINCE 1991 M.D.(HOM.) 9825050054 dr-ronakshah.com
---	---	--

WARTS: HOMEOPATHIC APPROACH

Warts are little growths on your skin caused by a virus. This virus lives in the bottom layer of your skin and replicates there. Warts can appear nearly anywhere on the body and they differ in appearance, size, and shape.

Causes:

Viral warts, as the name suggests, are caused by the virus, the most common being the human papillomavirus (HPV) group. There are different sub-types of HPV which cause different types of warts. Like any other viral disease, viral warts are contagious and spread by direct contact.

Types:

- Plantar warts: It affects the soles of the feet. It appears as a flesh-colored or light brown lump flecked with small clotted blood vessels that look like tiny black dots.
- Genital warts: Genital warts can appear in the pubic area, on the genitals, in or around the anus, and/or in the vagina. They look like small flesh-colored, pink, or red growths.
- Flat warts: It is more common in teens and children than in adults. Flat warts are smoother, flatter, and smaller than other warts, and they generally occur in groups on your face.

Viral warts and other wart-like growths:

Sometimes, warts caused by a virus can look like other things on your skin, like skin tags, small bumps called molluscum contagiosum (which look like white pearls), moles, birthmarks, or a condition called lichen planus. A careful look by a trained doctor makes the diagnosis clear.

Symptoms

- Small, fleshy, grainy bumps
- Rough to the touch
- Sprinkled with black pinpoints, which are small, clotted blood vessels

Treatment of warts:

Warts, in the past and even presently, are often treated locally with the help of some liquid or solution. Some cases are treated by cauterization (burning warts) by skin doctors. All such measures, it has been observed, are temporary; and warts reappear after some time.

Homeopathy Cure for Warts:

Homeopathy treatment for warts offers an excellent and promising cure. The beauty of the treatment is that the medicines are to be taken orally and there is no local application. This treatment, in turn, treats the ailment from within, for a long time and almost permanently.

The duration of homeopathic wart treatment varies from patient to patient. The duration of treatment depends on the severity of warts and their chronicity. Approximately, within three months or so, one finds positive results. Warts which are many in number and have existed for more than five years may need a longer course of medication.

Homeopathic treatment is essentially safe and absolutely harmless, which may be taken along with any other medicine if required. Only after a detailed case study, the correct remedy can be determined for any patient.

Some common medicines for homeopathy wart treatment are Silica, Thuja Occidentalis, Causticum, Calcaria Carbonica, Nitric acid, Lycopodium clavatum, Antimoniam crude.